

Customer Whistleblower Protection Statement

Our commitment to you

We're committed to creating a culture of trust and safety where customers and supporters can speak up confidently, knowing their concerns will be protected and heard.

Customers and their supporters are encouraged to speak up if they reasonably believe that we have breached the Aged Care Act. In these instances, Australian Unity welcome customers and supporters to make a disclosure in accordance with our Whistleblower Protection Policy, which requires Australian Unity to protect any whistleblower in accordance with the Aged Care Act.

If a disclosure does not involve a reasonable suspicion that we have breached the Aged Care Act (for example, you want to provide feedback on the standard of your cleaning services), then you are encouraged to speak-up via other communication channels such as Australian Unity's complaints or feedback system.

What protections must be provided to Whistleblowers

When managing disclosures, Australian Unity will ensure that protections available for Whistleblowers are not compromised. Protections include:

- The prohibition of victimisation of any Whistleblower, or threats of victimisation directed towards Whistleblowers
- Protection of the Whistleblower's identity and honouring a Whistleblower's right to remain anonymous (if requested).
- Protecting Whistleblowers from:
  - any civil, criminal or administrative liability (including disciplinary action) for making a disclosure
  - any contractual or other kind of remedy being enforced or exercised against the Whistleblower on the basis of the disclosure, including termination on the basis that disclosure constitutes breach of the contract.

For the full Whistleblower Protection Policy, contact the Home Health, Health Concierge Team on 1300 160 170 who will be able to provide a copy.

How to make a disclosure
